

Free Beautician Training for Women Launched in Banjara Hills Slum under TDF Vanitha Cheyutha Initiative

Description

Hyderabad (MediaBoss Network): As part of the Telangana Development Forum (TDF) Vanitha Cheyutha project, a free beautician training program has been launched for women living in the MTB Nagar slum of Banjara Hills. The course, valued at up to ₹1 lakh, is being offered completely free of cost.

The programme was formally inaugurated by TDF New Jersey member Indira Sriram, TDF USA Chairman Murali Chintalapani, former TDF USA President Dr. Dinesh Ani Reddy, Kavitha Challa, TDF India President Matta Rajeswar Reddy, and TDF India Vanitha Cheyutha President T. Vani.

Speaking on the occasion, T. Vani stated that this training camp is being organized with the support of SETWIN, a government-affiliated organization. She added that the initiative is aimed at empowering economically backward women in the slum by equipping them with skills that help them achieve financial independence.

Indira Sriram encouraged the women trainees, saying, "This course is a life-changing opportunity. With discipline and dedication, you can complete the training and build your own livelihood in the days ahead."

TDF India President Matta Rajeswar Reddy highlighted, "Our mission is to support women in Telangana by providing skill-based self-employment training."

Former TDF USA President Dr. Dinesh and Kavitha Challa also addressed the gathering, assuring that TDF is committed to creating employment avenues for trained women.

"TDF will always stand by Telangana women and support them in every possible way," assured TDF USA Chairman Murali Chintalapani.

SETWIN Area Manager Ameena Bhanu, members of TDF USA and TDF India, along with local women and students from the Banjara Hills slum, participated and contributed to the success of the event.
